

Figure S1: Trunk radial profile of the real (a) and imaginary (b) relative permittivity in L-band of larches at the OBS site in Saskatchewan. The winter data were always collected well below freezing point.