

Figure S2: Trunk radial profile of the real (a) and imaginary (b) relative permittivity in L-band of red pines at the SIRENE station at the Université de Sherbrooke. The winter data were always collected well below freezing point.